WELCOME TO THE ULTIMATE SKI AND SNOWBOARD PARADISE

Snow-covered slopes sparkling in the sunshine frame a wide, high valley of bewitching beauty. The Engadin has repeatedly won the coveted ADAC ski guide award for the Alpine ski region with the greatest variety, alongside other honours including the prestigious British Travel Award. At the four large ski areas of Corviglia/Piz Nair, Corvatsch, Diavolezza and Zuoz, as well as at five smaller but charming areas, skiers and snowboarders find 350 km (217 miles) of beautiful pistes waiting to be explored. Beginners, intermediates and experts alike discover slopes perfectly suited to their ability. Thanks to the high altitude and the modern artificial snowmaking facilities, Engadin St. Moritz is famously snowsure, while the dry climate guarantees superb powder. Throughout the area, 74 mountain and excursion restaurants promise mouth-watering gastronomic variety. Another special attraction of the region is the early start to the season: up on the Diavolezza, snow sports enthusiasts can indulge their passion as early as 22 October 2016.

The first winter sports region in Graubünden to open: Diavolezza starts operation on 22 October 2016.

White Carpet Corviglia At 7.45am, the mountain railways swing into action, and as the sun peeps above the snow-capped ridge, you are already gliding up to the heights. Winter walking Experience the fairy-tale charm of our delightful winter walking trails. The Engadin St. Moritz region has 150 km (93 miles) of winter walking paths and trails waiting to be explored. Cosy cafes and restaurants along the way offer the chance to stop for a welcome rest. On a stroll across the frozen Engadin lakes, you appreciate the vast expanse of the high-lying valley and, especially at sunset, the magical quality of the light in the Engadin. The flat winter walking paths from Maloja to Silvaplana and on to St. Moritz are perfect for families – depending on snow conditions, with pushchairs, too. For a particularly picturesque winter walk, follow the path from Sils into the romantic Val Fex, or from Maloja through the snow-blanketed forest to the frozen Lake Cavloccio. Those setting their sights higher can follow the Philosophers’ Trail up on Muottas Muragl. Along this idyllic winter walking trail, seats furnished with woollen blankets invite walkers to reflect on the breathtaking beauty of the landscape all around.

Snowshoe treks

With snowshoes on your feet, you are free to explore the pristine forests and snow-blanketed plateaus at your own pace – a magical adventure for anyone seeking tranquillity and adventure off the beaten track. In recent years, Maloja has made a name for itself among enthusiasts as a paradise for snowshoeing, while Madulain offers an idyllic evening snowshoe trek followed by a fondue dinner in a cozy alpine hut.

Snowkiting

Snowkiting is like kitesurfing, only on skis or a snowboard. A favourite venue is the frozen Lake Silvaplana, where you glide over the snow pulled by a kite powered by the Maloja wind.

Ice sports

Every village in the Engadin has an ice rink, where locals and visitors can skate, play ice hockey or hold a curling match. Some are also floodlit and open in the evening.

Ice climbing

The ice climbing gorge in Pontresina and the various frozen waterfalls attract experts and novices to the Engadin from far and wide. The Pontresina Mountaineering School offers a variety of courses at all levels.

Madulain Ice Path

Ice skating enthusiasts will love this beautiful open-air trail through the meadows along the left bank of the Inn. The light effects on the frozen river, views of the historic village heart and the sense of peace in the valley floor are enchanting. The path is 1,000 metres (1,100 yards) long and begins at the works yard, where parking is available.

Excursions by PostBus The picturesque village of Soglio in the Val Bregaglia is one of many charming destinations you can visit in comfort by PostBus. Other scenic options include a trip to the Italian market town of Chiavenna or a ride on the Palm Express along the shores of Lake Como to Lugano.

A bird’s-eye view of the Engadin The highest pinnacles of the Eastern Alps seem close enough to touch on a thrilling helicopter ride over the Bernina massif. If you like to feel the wind in your face as you fly, you may prefer a tandem descent by hang-glider or paraglider with a qualified pilot: a gentler experience, but just as memorable.

Top tobogganing: Preda/Darlu x–Bergün The Rhaetian Railway’s special toboggan excursion combines a ride on the world-famous Albula line with some of the best tobogganing in the Alps. The train journey through twisting tunnels and over giddy viaducts is one of the most dramatic in Switzerland. From Preda, at 1,800 metres above sea level (5,900 ft), you toboggan 6 bracing kilometres (4 miles) all the way down to Bergün.

THE ENGADIN IS RENOWNED FOR ITS SPECTACULAR AND AUTHENTIC ALPINE LANDSCAPES.
The wonderful climate of the Engadin

The Engadin’s elevated location, high in the Alps, creates unique weather patterns. Experts refer matter-of-factly to a dry, continental climate. As variations in temperature between day and night are as great as those between summer and winter, conditions for winter sports are superb. The dry cold preserves the freshly fallen snow so that the landscape keeps its white, fairy-tale appearance throughout the winter, and sports enthusiasts enjoy powder conditions rivalled only by those in the Rocky Mountains. All the same, this southerly mountain valley enjoys exceptionally high levels of sunshine.
The Engadin lakes

In winter, the Engadin lakes freeze over and are covered by a thick blanket of snow, creating a vast white expanse that adds to the sense of boundless freedom of this inspiring, high-lying valley. These wide-open spaces offer visitors a beautiful setting for walking, cross-country skiing and snowkiting, and provide a dramatic venue for exclusive events such as the spectacular Snow Polo World Cup St. Moritz, the legendary White Turf horse races and the traditional Engadin Ski Marathon.

Sparkling snow crystals

The combination of low temperatures, dry air and snow makes everything in the Engadin sparkle. On particularly cold, sunny days, the air appears to be full of millions of tiny diamonds, glittering in the sunlight. Unusual phenomena take place on the ground, too – for example, in the Val Trupchun. As the sun rarely reaches the valley floor in winter, snow crystals grow up to 4 centimetres (2 inches) across and glisten magically in the light.

White giants: the glaciers of the Engadin

Among the highlights of the magnificent Engadin landscape are the 173 glaciers. Draped majestically around the highest peaks of the Eastern Alps, they extend for more than 40 square km (15 square miles), making up four per cent of the region’s surface area. Crowning them all is the Morteratsch Glacier – at around 7 km (4.5 miles), the longest in the Engadin. Other glaciers, too – with evocative names such as Roseg, Tschierfa, Sella and Pers – bear witness to the power of nature. Hidden under a winter blanket of snow, however, the ice giants are barely discernible. At most, you can make out the odd crevasse, offering a glimpse of the eerie blue interior. Just as intriguing are the ice caves, created in summer when the relatively warm meltwater makes its way out of the glacier. Exploring the ice giants independently, however, is dangerous; anyone seeking to discover the glaciers’ secrets is well advised to book an expert guide.

National Park Centre, Zernez

Explore, discover and learn in a thrilling and creative setting: at the four interactive exhibition areas of the Swiss National Park’s visitor centre in Zernez, guests experience the endless and enchanting variety of nature in a completely new way.

Horse-drawn sleigh rides

One of the most relaxing and enjoyable experiences on offer in the Engadin is a romantic ride in a horse-drawn sleigh into one of the idyllic side valleys or along the snow-covered frozen lakes. You can arrange rides directly with the sleigh drivers; local tourist information offices provide full details of the various services on offer.

ST. MORITZ, THE WORLD’S MOST GLAMOROUS ALPINE DESTINATION.
The elegant resort of St. Moritz was the birthplace of winter tourism in 1864. Since then, two Olympic Winter Games (in 1928 and 1948) and numerous ski and bobsleigh world championships have sealed its unique global reputation. During the winter months, the glamorous atmosphere in St. Moritz and the beautiful mountain on its doorstep, the Corviglia/Piz Nair, promise a ski experience of a very special kind.

Champagne climate  St. Moritz is also famous worldwide for its “champagne climate” – not a reference to its champagne-drinking guests, but to the sparkling and invigorating climate of the Engadin, which in winter is characterised by exceptionally dry, clear air.

Olympia Bob Run, St. Moritz–Celerina  The Olympia Bob Run from St. Moritz to Celerina is the oldest bob run in the world – as well as the only natural ice track in existence that still hosts international races. Over a history lasting more than 110 years, it has staged two Olympic Winter Games as well as 20 world championships. You can find out what it feels like to hurtle down the 1,722-metre (1,883-yard) natural-ice bob run by booking a guest ride with a professional pilot and brakeman, experiencing speeds of up to 135 km/h (84 mph).

Cresta Run  The legendary Cresta Run in St. Moritz is the birthplace of the sport of bobsleigh racing. With a length of 1,200 metres (1,300 yards) and 10 corners, the Cresta – like the bob run – is built anew every winter using snow and water. Riders hurtle down it at an average speed of around 90 km/h (55 mph) – travelling head-first, chin a mere 10 cm (4 in) above the ice.

Magical St. Moritz  St. Moritz’s elegant and renowned 5-star deluxe hotels delight guests with their glamorous atmosphere and world-class restaurants, but hotels in other categories also enjoy great popularity thanks to their consistently high quality. In addition, numerous fine restaurants crowned with Michelin stars (8 in all) and GaultMillau points (453 in all) serve a wealth of gastronomic treats to please every palate.

Stroll around St. Moritz’s shops and you are guaranteed some happy surprises. Elegant designer boutiques, traditional sports suppliers, tempting souvenir and gift shops, and mouth-watering delicatessens all add to the wide variety of shopping on offer in this chic Alpine town. Turn into one of the small side alleys and you will find quaint shops where you can pick up genuine Engadin products – and perhaps make the odd lucky find to round off your shopping adventure.

The resort’s glittering array of nightspots extends from the historic bars of the grand hotels to fashionable lounge bars, legendary clubs and a wealth of other venues – including the Casino St. Moritz at the Kempinski Grand Hotel des Bains.

As host, the Engadin St. Moritz holiday region is looking forward with great pleasure to the FIS Alpine World Ski Championships 2017 in St. Moritz. The community has set its sights on an atmospheric, authentic and modern sporting event in an unmatched mountain setting. For St. Moritz, these will be the fifth world championships since 1934: a long tradition lies behind the goal of organising an event that is truly pioneering.

To be able to offer competitions at the highest level, outstanding facilities are required. At the same time, there is a duty to protect the unique mountain environment and to respect its boundaries. The world ski championships represent an investment in the future beyond the event itself, as was the case last time the championships were held here in 2003.
The facilities built then can still be used today; they are currently being modernised to enable the Engadin to compete successfully at the global level in the long term. All these developments should contribute to securing the future of the destination of Engadin St. Moritz. They should create a legacy from which young people, who are the focus of this major event, will benefit for a long time to come. This is the spirit behind the slogan of these FIS Alpine World Ski Championships: “Live the Future”.

Free Fall – trademark of the Pista Corviglia

When the downhill racers arrive up on the Corviglia, they are still a long way from the start of the course. They have to ride the Piz Nair cable car to the middle station and then climb a flight of 187 steel steps to reach the top of the Pista Corviglia at an altitude of 2,840 metres (9,318 ft), below the Piz Nair (3,059 m/10,036 ft). Here, racers’ adrenalin levels rise as they contemplate the trademark feature of the men’s downhill course in St. Moritz: its unbelievably steep initial section, known as the “Free Fall”.

Didier Cuche, 1998 Olympic silver medallist and 2009 super-G world champion, remembers his first experience of the “Free Fall” clearly. “I have to admit, the first time I saw it I gulped,” he says. With a gradient of 100% or 45 degrees, this initial slope is the steepest of any downhill course in the world. In the space of just six seconds, racers accelerate from zero to a speed of 140 km/h (85 mph), faster than many racing cars. As they do so, competitors feel as if they are in free fall. “The start in St. Moritz certainly demands courage, but it’s also a big challenge especially in terms of coordination,” says Cuche. “Normally, you catapult yourself forwards from the start onto the piste and then push with your poles another three or four times. That doesn’t work in St. Moritz, because the slope immediately drops off extremely steeply. You have to bring your skis from their horizontal position at the start into the vertical as fast as you can. The first 20 to 30 metres (65–98 ft) here really feel like a free fall.”

www.stmoritz2017.ch
Social media: #stmoritz2017

The “piste designer”

“You gulp, the first time you look down from the start. It’s like your first leap from a five-metre diving board,” says Bernhard Russi. The two-time downhill world champion and 1972 Olympic gold medallist has designed all the major downhill courses for world championships and Olympic Games since the 1988 Olympics in Calgary, so the Pista Corviglia also bears his signature. He designed a piste that required only very small interventions – no detonations, some reshaping by former Swiss ski racer Paul Accola in a digger, nothing more. The only structures that needed building were the flight of steps, the starting platform and start hut. In St. Moritz, Russi finally achieved something he had dreamt of for years: “All I had to do was say: let it snow!”

The House of St. Moritz

For the first time, the host resort of world ski championships is inaugurating a major dedicated multi-functional venue: the “House of St. Moritz”. Devised by and for St. Moritz, this is a central meeting point for visitors, competitors, the media and locals. The House of St. Moritz has been created by Mathis Food Affairs and the Engadin St. Moritz tourism organisation in close collaboration with the organising committee of the Alpine World Ski Championships and the municipality of St. Moritz. Located in St. Moritz the venue is conceived as a place of encounter and exchange, celebrating St. Moritz, as a world-class ski destination and forming a link between the past and the future. The House of St. Moritz also features paying restaurants and bars serving high-quality cuisine both indoors and in the open air.

St. Moritz is the most scintillating winter sports resort in the world. Its name is protected as a trademark and stands worldwide for elegance and high class. It was here that winter tourism was invented in 1864, and to this day, no other resort celebrates it in such style. Guests from all over the world enjoy the chic, cosmopolitan ambiance and a unique combination of top-quality restaurants in the resort and on the slopes, hotels that set new standards in luxury in every way, and a packed calendar of top-level international events – from the FIS Ski World Cup and the Gourmet Festival to the international horse races and the polo tournament on the frozen Lake St. Moritz. The shopping is famously seductive, notably along glamorous Via Serlas, while close by, guests find all kinds of local specialities such as the delicious Engadin walnut cake. Of course, the quality of winter sports on offer in St. Moritz is also superb – from the local mountain, Corviglia/Piz Nair, with its 100 km (62 miles) of pistes, to the legendary Cresta Run and the world’s only natural-ice bob run that still hosts World Cup races. No wonder, then, that after staging four Alpine World Ski Championships and two Olympic Winter Games (in 1928 and 1948), St. Moritz has won the honour of hosting the FIS Alpine World Ski Championships St. Moritz 2017.

Exquisite pleasure high up in the Alps. Nestled in the scenic mountainscape of Piz Bernina, Palü, Roseg and Languard, this historic Engadin village has grown over the years to be wildly romantic, sunsoaked and sheltered from the wind. It’s a tranquil place, one of wintry delights and culinary delicacies. Panoramic downhills and glaciers for thrill-seekers, World Cup slopes for pros and flat, sunny slopes for beginners, as well as expansive, untouched winter dreamscapes for freeriders and anyone who wants to go on a ski tour on Diavolezza. Cross-country skiers as well as snowshoe and winter hikers can also experience the best of this fine region. Pontresina has also been awarded the ‘Families Welcome’ seal of quality, which commends resorts that have tailored their offer specifically to the needs and wishes of children and their accompanying adults. For successful family holidays from start to finish. Located high up in the Alps, this is certainly a delightful experience with luxury that’s truly unmatched anywhere else; ice climbing up icicles that are metres long, snowkiting on the frozen Lago Bianco, as well as ice-skating, curling and hockey on natural ice rinks. Afterwards, why not treat yourself to some time at the Bellavita Pool and Spa, or dine at a GaultMillau-rated restaurant in the local starred hotels replete with their Swiss pine rooms, and your evening is complete.

The nearby mountain of Muottas Muragl, meanwhile, offers spectacular tobogganing and sublime winter walking. Cross-country skiers can set off from Celerina to explore the extensive trail network of the Engadin, while at the Center da Sport, ice skaters and curling enthusiasts can indulge their passion on the sunniest ice rink in Europe.

Silvaplana is a lively, trend-setting holiday resort set amongst the lakes of the Engadin. On its doorstep, the towering Corvatsch offers unlimited winter sports options. But this is only one reason why Silvaplana has become a magnet for outdoor activity fans: it is also a paradise for snowkiting. Since this spectacular sport was invented on frozen Lake Silvaplana, enthusiasts from all over the world have flocked here to take advantage of the Maloja wind that builds up almost every day around noon until it has the kites dancing across the blue Engadin sky and skimming at speed across the plateau. The resort also has a wonderfully tranquil side. Set amidst sublimely beautiful and unspoilt scenery with expansive frozen lakes, forests dusted with snow, and peaceful footpaths and scenic crosscountry ski trails leading through the enchanting Engadin mountain landscape, Silvaplana also offers an abundance of treats to those who prefer natural highs to adrenalin-fuelled thrills.

Sils

Sils is said to abound in natural earth energy, or life force – and that you can even measure it. By why bother, when you are bewitched anyway by the magic of the landscape at first sight? Writers such as Nietzsche, artists like Beuys and musicians including David Bowie all drew inspiration from the wide-open spaces here and the magical light. Idyllically located between two frozen lakes, the village also stands at the entrance to the romantic Val Fex. The most beautiful way to explore this is in a horse-drawn sleigh or carriage – but Sils also makes a perfect base for hikes and winter walks, too, through the expansive, sun-blessed landscape that stretches out at the foot of the local mountain, the Furtschellas. From here, it’s a short ride higher still up to the Corvatsch, and the highest cable car station in the canton Graubünden (3,303m/10,837ft). And from here in turn, 120 kilometres (75 miles) of glorious piste lead back down to the valley.

Here at the border with Italian-speaking Switzerland, locals and visitors cherish the relaxed atmosphere, the spirit of great painters – and traditionally made sausages. As starting point of the Engadin Ski Marathon, Maloja is also a paradise for cross-country skiers. The little village at the top of the eponymous pass leading to the unspoilt Val Bregaglia is heaven for children – and their parents, too. At the tourist information office you can book pizza-baking courses for kids, and the sunny local ski area, Aela, is also wonderfully family-friendly. But not only families feel at home in this glorious natural setting. The fascinating play of light and shadow has long attracted artists. Giovanni Segantini chose the landscape around Maloja as the subject for many of his paintings and made the village his final home. Another artist who worked here was Giovanni Giacometti, the father of Alberto. Their spirit continues to inspire visitors to this day, through exhibitions, readings and concerts.

The vibrant capital of the Upper Engadin is not only the region’s political centre, but also the focus for the traditional Engadin way of life. Samedan owes its importance to its location at the heart of the Upper Engadin: the town serves as a hub for the Rhaetian Railway, as well as being home to a small international airport – a prized launch site for glider pilots. The Badrutt family, which went on to write hotel history in St. Moritz, originated here; among many historic features is the magnificent 16th-century Chesa Planta, while new additions include the “vertical” mineral baths. A village that is as vibrant as it is picturesque with its stately traditional Engadin houses may appear idyllic, but the charm is genuine: local people (and two museums) ensure that traditional Engadin culture is very much alive here. Furthermore, all parts of the Engadin are easily reached from here, including the summit of the local mountain, Muttas Muragl, with its stunning panorama and where the impressive first-plus-energy hotel in the Alps, the Romantik Hotel Muttas Muragl, is located. The Survih ski area, the cross-country ski centre and the fast Toboggan run also make for enticing winter sports experiences.

This bewitching Engadin village offers an idyllic base for family holidays. Its charm is hard to resist: Visitors encounter nothing but tranquillity and nature. Located in the heart of the high valley of the Engadin, Bever is celebrated for its story-telling traditions – indeed, the whole village looks like an open picturebook, with its enchanted hideaways, its tiny windows sunk deep into mighty façades, and its natural sculptures of ice hanging from roofs and flights of steps. Overlooking all this is the mighty renovated church spire, piercing the blue sky and with its bells marking the passage of time, which seems to move a little more slowly here than elsewhere. Visitors seeking the ultimate in tranquility can take the path to Spinas, four kilometres (2.5 miles) away, at the southern portal of the Albula railway tunnel. Or hike along the carefully maintained winter walking trail, set off on cross-country skis along tracks prepared daily, or on snowshoes and venture across the snowblanketed meadows. Here, the path really is the goal.
The patricians who built their grand houses here knew exactly what they were doing: The location of sun-blessed La Punt Chamues-ch is not only strategically perfect, at the foot of the Albula Pass, but idyllic, too, beside the River Inn. Dominating the village are richly adorned farmhouses and grand patrician houses from the 16th and 17th centuries. A source of local pride is the top gastronomy served at the Gasthaus Krone, now over 450 years old, and at the widely-renowned Chesa Pirani fine dining restaurant with its 2 Michelin stars. In winter, the snow-covered road over the pass is closed to traffic and becomes a thrilling toboggan run. More winter fun is on offer along the idyllic cross-country ski trails and on a variety of snowshoeing routes and ski touring itineraries. Children are promised their own snowy adventures thanks to the Müsella children’s ski lift, which together with the neighbouring playground makes this a prized spot for families.

Anyone seeking peace and quiet will find the smallest village in the Engadin a haven of tranquillity. And yet the most beautiful ski areas are just around the corner: It’s not far to the sunny skiing area of Pizol above Zuoz. And St. Moritz is only 15 minutes away. For cross-country skiers, the trails begin right on the doorstep. The pretty village with its 200 inhabitants and typical Engadin houses, where traditional Romansh culture is part of day-to-day life, lies directly on the course of the Engadin Ski Marathon. Madulain is also an ideal base for exploring other trails of the Engadin’s cross-country network, which extends for up to 220 kilometres (137 miles). It has trails suitable for all skiers from beginners to athletes – and pet lovers, too: Stretching between Madulain and S-chanf are the only dog trails in the Engadin. Sun-blessed Madulain, idyllically located beside the River Inn, is also the starting point for a number of superbly prepared winter walking trails.

The village heart of Zuoz is said to be the prettiest in the Upper Engadin. But while the community cherishes its traditions, the resort moves with the times in an innovative and appealing way. A charming family ski area with three chair lifts and two ski lifts, the children’s ski school with its ski kindergarten, the Sur En cross-country ski centre and a network of idyllic winter walking trails all ensure that Zuoz has plenty to offer visitors, both today and in the future. Culture lovers will enjoy strolling through the historic heart of the village with its proud patrician houses and art galleries. Gourmets, meanwhile, should pay a visit to the highest coffee-roasting facility in Europe – and learn all about the history of the delicious drink at the Caferama Coffee Museum. Families simply feel utterly at ease in the village of Zuoz, which has been awarded the “Families Welcome” seal of quality by the Swiss Tourism Federation (STF).

Long ago, S-chanf was known as a stop for mule drivers; today, this pretty village is famous as the goal of cross-country skiers competing in the Engadin Ski Marathon. For holidaymakers, S-chanf makes an ideal base for exploring an exceptional variety of cross-country ski trails, such as the enchanting forest route to Zernez. Families, especially, enjoy a wonderfully peaceful experience of winter here. The intact historic heart of the village radiates an irresistible, genuine charm; residents cherish their Romansh roots and authentic local culture. The natural landscape on the village’s doorstep is unrivalled, protected in grand style as the Swiss National Park. But while S-chanf, located just outside the park, has grown in importance as a tourist destination in recent years, the village has maintained its sense of tradition in cheerful, relaxed style.
The gateway to the Swiss National Park also makes an ideal base for exploring the whole of the delightful region where Switzerland, Italy and Austria come together. Undisputed number-one attraction, however, is the Swiss National Park, at 170.3 square kilometres (66 square miles) the country’s largest nature reserve. In winter, it lies under a thick blanket of snow and is closed to the public, but the visitor centre in Zernez with its fascinating multi-media exhibition remains open all season. The attractive Engadin village also makes a peaceful base for exploring the region’s various large ski areas, while from the doorstep a network of cross-country ski trails leads into the expansive valley of the Upper Engadin, down into the wild and Romantic Lower Engadin, and around Zernez itself. Anyone seeking a very special experience of nature can book a guided snowshoe tour – for example up at the Ofen Pass. Livelier thrills, meanwhile, are on offer on the Munt Baselgia toboggan run, the artificial ice rink and the wonderful natural ice rink.

Terms of contract and conditions of travel

This catalogue was compiled by the Engadin St. Moritz Tourism Organisation on behalf of the service providers – hotels, airlines, etc. – listed therein.

01 Scope of these terms of contract and conditions of travel
These terms of contract and conditions of travel govern the legal relationship between you and the service provider insofar as your contractual partner does not present terms and conditions at the time of booking. Unless expressly specified otherwise at the time of booking, your contract will be with the companies providing services, even if you place your booking through the Engadin St. Moritz Tourism Organisation. In such cases, the Engadin St. Moritz Tourism Organisation acts merely as an agent between you and the service provider; your contract is direct with the provider of the service booked.

02 Conclusion of contract and services provided
Your contract with the service provider becomes legally binding when the booking office unconditionally confirms your booking. If the same booking office arranges other services and packages for you that are not booked from a publication of the Engadin St. Moritz Tourism Organisation, these terms of contract and conditions of travel shall not apply. The services provided will be as specified in the booking confirmation and in the details provided of the service on offer. Unless stated otherwise in the product description, your activity will begin at the location specified in the contract.

03 Prices and terms of payment
All prices are quoted in Swiss francs and are to be paid in Swiss francs. Unless otherwise agreed in your booking or in the booking confirmation, the price of your trip shall be payable in full upon booking. If the price is not paid in full by the date due, your contractual partner shall be entitled to withhold services, to withdraw from the contract and to demand the cancellation costs listed in paragraph 05. Note that if you book your trip through a different booking office such as a travel agent, this booking office may make additional charges for advice, reservations, etc.

04 Price and programme changes
The service providers and the Engadin St. Moritz Tourism Organisation are entitled to change the details of services and prices before a contract is signed. You will be informed of this at the time of booking. After the contract has been signed, prices can be increased up to three weeks prior to the beginning of your trip if the transport or accommodation costs, the charges for certain services or the exchange rate have increased. Changes to the programme and scope of services may also arise owing to unforeseen or unavoidable circumstances. Should any of the essential features of your trip change considerably and if you cannot be offered an appropriate alternative, you have the right to cancel your booking. In these circumstances, price increases of more than 10% count as a considerable change. Unforeseen and unavoidable circumstances may necessitate a change of programme even after your trip has commenced. Your service provider will endeavour to provide appropriate alternatives in such cases. The Engadin St. Moritz Tourism Organisation will not refund any services not delivered and accepts no liability for programme changes.

05 Changes or cancellations requested by you
If you wish to change your booking or to cancel your trip, you must notify the booking office directly. Any travel documents you have already received must be returned to the booking office at the same time. A service charge of CHF 60.– per person, max. CHF 120.– per order, will be levied for cancellations and changes (affecting names of travelers, dates, accommodation or additional services, etc.). If you cancel your trip or change your booking (name, date, accommodation, additional services, etc.) less than 31 days prior to departure, you will also be charged, in addition to any processing fee, for the following costs as a percentage of the total cost of your trip:

- 30 to 15 days before departure: 30% of the package price
- 14 to 8 days before departure: 50% of the package price
- 7 to 1 days before departure: 80% of the package price
- On the day of departure and in the event of no-show: 100% of the package price

The critical date is that on which the booking office receives notice of your intentions; if that is a Saturday, Sunday or public holiday, the next working day shall apply.

06 Late arrival or early departure of your own accord
You are responsible for arriving on time. Should you arrive late, you cannot claim a refund for any services you have missed owing to your late arrival. Should you depart early, your expenses will not be refunded.

07 Early departure or exclusion occasioned by the service provider
The service provider is entitled to end the service/trip prematurely in the event of unforeseen or unavoidable circumstances that would render fulfilment of contract impossible, considerably more difficult or dangerous for those taking part. If no alternative is possible, the service provider shall be exempted from its obligation to fulfil the contract. Your claim to a refund in such cases shall be limited to unjust enrichment. The service provider can exclude participants from the trip if their actions or omissions justify such a step. In such a case, the cost of the package shall still be due in full and there shall be no refund for services not received. Any claims for compensation are excluded.

08 Liability
The Engadin St. Moritz Tourism Organisation and the service providers accept no liability, to the extent provided for by law, for slight negligence on their own part or that of their agents. No liability is accepted for loss or damage to valuables, cameras/camcorders etc., fur coats or other expensive items of clothing, mobile phones, credit cards, cash and other valuable objects or for unlawful use of the same. For packages, liability for anything other than personal injury shall be limited to twice the cost of the package. The limitations to liability specified in paragraphs 04 to 07 also apply.

09 Travel insurance
Participants are strongly advised to take out travel insurance to provide cover for cancellation or early departure, incl. accident or sickness.

10 Applicable law and jurisdiction
The contract between you and the service providers or the Engadin St. Moritz Tourism Organisation is governed exclusively by Swiss law. Exclusive place of jurisdiction for any disputes arising will be St. Moritz, Switzerland.

General terms and conditions:
This catalogue has been compiled on behalf of the tourist service providers named within, in accordance with information supplied by them. Your contractual partner is specified in the relevant entry and is responsible for the proper provision of any services booked. Many service providers operate their own general terms and conditions that define contractual relations with you and specify the liability of the provider. These general terms of business are binding for you when you make a booking. Prices and services described in this catalogue may be changed at any time. You will be informed about any such changes at the time of making a booking. Outdoor activities: these activities may be cancelled or broken off at any time if weather conditions or other circumstances require. You may book services directly with the relevant provider or via Engadin St. Moritz. If you book an activity via Engadin St. Moritz, the latter is dealing purely as an intermediary between you and the service provider. Your contract is direct with the provider of the service booked. In case of disagreement or any question of liability, etc., you should refer directly to the relevant service provider. Engadin St. Moritz is not your contractual partner and accepts no responsibility for provision of the service booked. Only Swiss law is applicable. Any disputes arising hereunder will be settled before a competent court of law in St. Moritz, Switzerland.
